From the Rotterdam Gazette, dated Nov. 24.

Venice, November 7.

THEY write from the Breſcian, that the Imperial Army has receiv'd a Reinforcement of 800 Cuiraſſiers or Dragoons,and a Remittance of 50000 Crowns with Bills of Exchange for a greater Sum. Count Leiningen, who commands that Army, has order'd the Troops to be in a Readineſs to march at firſt Notice. The Grand Prior of France having ſent a Detachment to reinforce the Blockade of Mirandola, quitted the Mantuan, advanc'd into the Breſcian, and the 29th of laſt Month encamp'd with 12000 Men at Monte Chiaro within a few Miles of the Imperialiſts. He has promis'd to make good the Damage his Troops have done in our Territories, and has caus'd ſix Soldiers, who had been amarauding, to be hang'd. Mean while the Proveditor General Molino is gone with ſome Troops from Verona to Breſcia, to have as ſtrict an Eye as poſſible to the Preſervation of the Country.

Paris, Nov. 15. 'Tis written from the Army commanded by the Grand Prior of France, that on the 28th of laſt Month he went and incamp'd at Monte Chiaro in the Breſcian on the River Chieſe: That he had found a Magazine of 60000 weight of Hay, which he had caus'd to be diſtributed among his Cavalry: and had agreed with the Breſcians to furniſh him with 120000 weight more. He reſolv'd to approach nearer the Germans to endeavour to draw them to a Battle.

From the Leiden Courant, dated Nov. 26.

Milan, Nov. 8. The Grand Prior of France having march'd into the Venetian Territories,has made himſelf Maſter of Monte Chiaro by ſurprize, and has likewiſe a Deſign upon Breſcia. Some Venetian Troops are coming from Dalmatia to garriſon Verona. The Imperialiſts, who are 15000 ſtrong, continue at Goion, when they expect to be joyn'd by 3000 Horſe and 5000 Foot from the Trentin. Count Breiner, at the Head of a Detachment of Horſe, has made an Incurſion into Alexandria, and brouget off a great Booty.

From the Paris Gazette, dated Nov. 22.

From the Camp at Monte Chiaro, Nov. 5. The Grand Prior of France broke up, on the 28th of laſt Month, from Medoli, and the ſame day came and incamp'd at this Place, which is ſituate on the Chieſe in the Breſcian. He found here a Magazine of 60000 weight of Hay, which by his Order was diſtributed among the Cavalry: and he has ſince made an Agreement with the Proveditor of Breſcia to furniſh him every day with 120000 weight of Hay, which Contract is punctually fulfill'd. The Army has ſtay'd here waiting for a great Convoy which is expected this Evening: As ſoon as it arrives the Grand Prior will march nearer the Enemy, and ſtraiten them as much as poſſible. The Imperialiſts are ſtill in the ſame Places, tho' for more than two Months they have been threatning to come down into the Plain, and force their way into the Mantuan or Milaneze to relieve the Duke of Savoy.

From the Rotterdam Gazette, dated Nov. 20.

Paris, Nov. 14. Our Letters from Milan ſay, that the Germans have begun to ravage the Breſcians, and that they ſeem no longer to deſign falling into Piemont, by reaſon of the great Difficulties they foreſee in that Attempt, all the Paſſages being ſhut up. But that they will ſatisfie themſelves with making a Diverſion, by cutting out Work for the Grand Prior.

From the Amſterdam Gazette, dated Nov. 28.

Milan, Nov. 15. The Grand Prior of France continues with his Army in the Neighbourhood of Chiari. He ſeizes all the Proviſions and Forrage that can be found in the Country thereabouts, and ſends it away to Mantua, with fair Promiſes to ſatisfie the Owners. The Count de Leiningen has receiv'd a Reinforcement of Horſes and Men to remount and recruit his Troops. He has made a Motion between Gavardo and Goyon, towards Monte-Molino, and has poſted himſelf at Rocca-Molga and Baſogo: having caus'd the Country about Badiſola to be pillag'd, becauſe ſome Venetians there had kill'd a German Captain.

Venice, Nov. 15. Count Brainer lately paſs'd through this Place in his Way from Vienna to the Imperial Army, with Sums and Remittances of Money. That Army continues incamp'd in the Breſcian, and that of France near Monte Chiaro. The firſt of them has receiv'd new Reinforcements, and expects others by the Trentin. The French are fortifying the Poſts of Oſtiglia and Revere.

From the Leiden Gazette, dated Nov. 27.

Venice, Nov. 14. Saturday laſt our Regency ſent an Expreſs to the Court of Vienna, to complain of the long ſtay the Imperialiſts under Count Leiningen make in the Breſcian, and of the Diſorders they commit there: From whence they write of the 10th of this Month that both the Armies continue in their former Poſts; that the Grand Prior was intrenching his Camp that reach'd from Monte Chiaro to Calcinaro and Lonaro: That there was a talk of extending it yet farther, even to the Banks of the Cheſe, to have that little River in front, that they might the better watch the Motions of the Imperialiſts, who have likewiſe before them the Naviglia. That theſe laſt were in ſome want of Forrage, the continual Rains having render'd the Roads unpaſſable: That they had ſummon'd ſeveral Places to ſupply them with ſome in 24 Hours, particularly that they had demanded 200 Loads of Hay and Straw of Caſtenendole; and that the Inhabitants of Breſcia having given Count Leiningen an Eſtimate of the Damages the Breſcian had ſuſtain'd by his Troops, they receiv'd for Anſwer, That they ought likewiſe to demand Satisfaction of the French; and that for his Part he would give his Anſwer to the Proveditor General of the Republick, who was every Moment expected in the City of Breſcia.

Lenden, Nov. 27. They write from Milan of the 17th inſtant, That after the loſs of the Fort of Guerbignan, the Duke of Savoy abandon'd his Camp at Creſcentino, and retir'd towards Turin with the beſt Part of his Troops; and that notwithſtanding this Verrue continu'd to make a Gallant Defence. Theſe Letters add, That throughout the State of Milan they they were making greater Preparations of War than hitherto; that they were raiſing many new Levies; that thoſe of the Kingdom of Naples were order'd thither; that they bought up all the Horſes they could light on; were raiſing all the Money they could; and that there was a Report, tho' without any certain foundation for it, that the Imperialiſts were retiring towards the Trentin, as faſt as the Grand Prior advanc'd nearer them; and that 'twas likely the French would take up their Winter-Quarters in the Breſcian, to be the better able to diſpute the Paſſages with the Imperialiſts the next Campaign.

From the Amſterdam Courant, dated Nov. 29.

Venice, Nov. 14. We have advice from the Terra Firma, that the Imperial Army in the Breſcian was upon breaking up, intending, as 'twas ſaid to march towards the Oglio, where ſome French and Spaniſh Troops were poſted; and that the Grand Prior keeps his Camp between Monte Chiaro and Calcinaro, to have a watchful Eye on their Motions. Our Provedidor General Molino is gone with his Troops from Verona to Breſcia, to inform himſelf of all the Diſorders that have been committed in our Territories by the foreign Armies on both ſides.

From the Rotterdam Gazette, dated Nov. 26.

Vienna, Nov. 12. By an Expreſs going to Rome from the Party of King Auguſtus of Poland we have advice, that the Swedes threaten to make an Irruption into Sileſia and Saxony. This Expreſs reports likewiſe, that it has been diſcover'd by intercepted Letters from the Cardinal Primate, that all his Pretences of a Reconciliation with King Auguſtus were only Artifices the better to conceal his real Intentions.

From the Leiden Gazette, dated Nov. 26.

Cracow, Nov. 11. King Auguſtus arriv'd here yeſterday from Warſaw, but laſt from Pionteck, and brought with him his Horſe-Guards, and other Cavalry. His Majeſty will hold a Council of Senators here to-morrow. Prince Lubomirski, who with all his Family has quitted the Party of the Confederates againſt the King, is at preſent four Leagues from hence with his Troops, and 'tis believ'd that to-morrow or the day after he will joyn the King's Forces with them.

From the Paris Gazette a la Main, dated Nov. 24.

Paris, Nov. 24. We have receiv'd advice from the Sevennes that five Camiſards of Ravanel's Company have ſubmitted themſelves and laid down their Arms. They report that he has but 11 Men left. Cavalier's Lieutenant has alſo quitted him and ſurrender'd himſelf. They write beſides, that Marſhal Villars was to march the 9th of this Month into the Upper Sevennes, to endeavour to diſlodge the remainder of the Camiſars from the faſt Holds that protect them.
